

EMT UNIT EXAMS Pilot Version

April 2022

Fisdap EMT Unit Exams, Twelfth Edition are now available for pilot testing!

Please help the Fisdap community by administering this pilot test to your students or fellow educators. This essential step of the process determines the validity of the questions and the future direction of each assessment. In addition to the six unit exams we have always offered, we have added anatomy & physiology for EMTs, and broken operations into two exams: EMS Operations: Intro Includes communication, safety & wellness, documentation, medical/legal, and lifting and moving, while EMS Operations 2 Includes HazMat, Vehicle Ops, MCI, and special challenges.

The following categories are available to pilot test individually:

Topic	Number of items	Cut Score %
Airway	98	69
Cardiology	95	68
EMS Operations	86	71
Medical Emergencies	92	66
Ob/Gyn & Pediatrics	110	67
Trauma	103	68
A&P	84	71
EMS Operations 2	92	70

Each of the unit exams should be administered in a secure and proctored environment. In order to schedule an appropriate amount of time for each exam, please allow for 1 minute per question.

Any student with a Fisdap account can attempt the exams and Fisdap staff can generate a free pilot testing account for students who do not currently have an account. Student should have a piece of scratch paper and a pencil to write down issues or discuss concepts during their attempt and be sure to include the item ID number for reference.

For now, accessing the EMT Pilot Unit Exams is different than other exams. They are secure and proctored assessments, but they do NOT have to be scheduled inside of Fisdap.
